

Giz versus Cordray

(Comments for this writing from: Dallas January 5, 2012 Front Page Article)

“Cordray Recess Appointed Head of Consumer Finance Protection Board”

Paraphrasing

Imagine a police force in your home town that does not have a dispatch center. Where there is not dispatch center, there is no way to dial 911 to report a crime of rape, pillage and plundering which could perpetuate into capital crimes if criminals go unpunished. Cordray could be considered to be the dispatch center for the Consumer Finance Protection Board.

The Dallas article noted that the GOP may challenge the president’s recess appointment of Cordray as being illegal and unconstitutional. Well, at least the president was tending to home affairs while GOP Congressional leaders watched Washington burn from a far. Over the years I have heard the president called many names but there are undisputable facts to establish his presence in the world. Obama is the president, majority of the people elected Obama; Obama is a man of flesh and blood. Obama is a husband and a father and appears to be a man guided by wisdom of God and refused to kick the can down the road any more.

As for campaigning for reelection, appointing Cordray should be considered one of the most cost effective means of gaining the majority support of the 99% of Americans. Done by the president just by doing his job, amazing.

This writer may not agree with all the president’s decisions, but if the president continues to implement plans to protect the people from evil.

Gee Whiz Giz, no need to be a rocket scientist, president gets my support.

Additional Writings:

<http://www.scribd.com/alviec> or <http://www.ourlemon.com>