

Satan or the Devil

“Choice”

Many choose fabrication over truth

- Truth, Hebrew definition of Satan; was that of an accuser appointed by God who evolved to be a tempter of mankind.
- Truth, many religions believe that the Devil is an enemy of God and mankind.
- Truth, belief in God and belief in a religion are not the same.
- Truth, where one neither admits nor denies, one does not admit.
- Truth, - Galileo Galilei (1564 – 1642) was just one individual that put forward a truth that the Earth was not the center of the universe (heliocentrism v geocentric). Galileo in speaking truth spent the remainder of his life under house arrest as a result of offending Pope Urban VIII (Maffeo Barberini - Pope 1623 to 1644).
- Truth – Around 330 BC, Aristotle (384BC – 322BC) was a student of Plato and a teacher of Alexander the Great and held the belief the world was not flat. This occurred around the time of the Hellenistic period (zenith of Greek influence.)
- Truth – Hellenistic period is not the same as hell described in many religions.
- Islam Truth – The Devil does not reside in Hell.
